Council Takes Numerous Progressive Steps

The future of Warren and Warren county took on a more hopeful hue this week when the Warren borough council acted positively on several proposals which doubtless will play a major part in the life of this area. These ranged from recreation to industrial expansion.

Council approved a resolution which concurred with the county commissioners in their recognition of the Warren County Development Association as the agency representing this county in efforts to utilize the industrial development assistance plans of the state. If boroughs and governing bodies representing fifty per cent of the population take similar action Warren county may obtain state money with which to make a survey. The results of this survey will be used to plan the county's future and to induce the planned expansion of industry.

Council also gave the Warren Recreation board permission to sign a lease with the YMCA for the use of the canteen portion of the Y building. This will be a five-year lease, with the right to terminate it at the end of each year if 120-day notice is given.

The board plans to make a financial drive this month, with about $10,000 to be used for improvements in the building. The work should be done this summer so that the canteen can be put to real use in the fall.

If the lease is terminated by the Y, it must pay the board for its percentage of equity in the capital improvements. For example, if the lease is terminated at the end of one year, they must pay eighty per cent of the improvement costs. The second year it would be sixty per cent, the third, forty, and the fourth, twenty.

Warren pays only $1 a year for the rent, and can be held responsible for the utility bills. However, the recreation board expects the canteen to be self sustaining. The borough's general funds cannot be obligated for capital investments or furnishings.

Council also approved a Memorial Field lease for the Jaycees.

who will stage a rodeo there July 4, 5, and 6. The rodeo will be held on the area south of the football bleachers and no playing area can be used. The field must be left in the same condition as it was when leased, and insurance has been approved that will pay up to $100,000 for injury to one person $300,000 to more than one, and $500,000 for property damage. Cost to the Jaycees is $1.

Opposition to the Manufacturers Light and Heat application for a rate increase was approved by council. Councilman Warren Miller said his public works committee was opposed to the increase because it was based on 1956 costs; the Pennsylvania Gas Company rates are lower and it is asking for an increase, and the Public Utilities commission has been set up to protect the customer and should be told when the customer is not pleased.

Council went on record as opposing the increase and voted to send certified copies to the Public Utilities commission.

Borough Manager Geracimos read a petition from Struthers Wells which wants to have part of Sechrist st, and a connecting alley vacated. The petition did not say to what use the vacated street and alley would be put. Council decided to learn more about the plans before acting.

The annual application for state highway funds was made, and this year total a bit over $26,000. They already are budgeted.

Engineer DeBell reported that drainage work in preparation for the year's paving is nearly finished and that the sequence of paving soon will be known. He said gauging on various sewers also is underway and data will be ready for a report at the next meeting. He revealed that the Pennsylvania Department of Forest and Waters expects to have a crew of engineers in Warren within a week or two for a study of the Glade and Indian run problems. The lower part of Glade run should be completed in a few weeks.

Council approved a military leave for Policeman Bernard Winegardner from May 18 to June 1, and it was announced that civil service examinations for policemen and firemen will be given May 21, at 7:30, in the borough building.

Councilman Frantz reported that the sewage plant authority had organized and had named Robert Kopf chairman. Solicitor Harper said the authority now is determining how to sell its bonds.

It was learned that all but $3,500 of last year's paving assessments have been collected and that only eleven liens have been necessary.

Councilman Carbon asked why the Pennsylvania railroad was allowed to get away without repairs to its Fourth ave. crossing. He suggested that Struthers Wells also should be doing something about its crossing. He also pointed out the continual break-down of repairs to the New York Central's Fifth and Sixth ave. crossings. (Amen, amen!)

440-YARD DASH CONTENDERS (right) was second for Youngsville, and Bob Haslet (left) also competed for the Dragons.

The Blue and White team finished the meet first with 60, Youngsville had 48, and Corry scored 16 points.

SECTION TWO CHAMP. Varsity-man Bob Swanson ran a 4:57 mile at Corry Tuesday afternoon to win Section Two honors.

This shot was taken on the Beaty cinders in last Friday's triangular meet with Youngsville and Corry. The thinclad has just pulled away as he opened the final lap.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

IKE NEEDS YOU NOW

The popularity of President Eisenhower twice was emphatically proved at the polls when record votes were piled up. While his opponent both times received enough votes to ordinarily elect a President, Ike got enough more to make it look like no race at all.

That popularity still is there. As a writer in the New Republic several weeks ago said, the President has not taken a stand on enough issues, if any, to use up any of his popularity. He hasn't offended anyone by battling for his cause. His punitive measures are negligible.

Today his major support is deserting him. The powerful conservative elements of his party who spent millions to sell his popularity like they would have promoted a soap campaign, now are pretending that his budget is too much and are using it as an excuse to attack portions of his program which they do not like, such as foreign aid.

The millions who voted for him are not organized and do not speak as a group except at the polls. They never will have that opportunity again, because the law now says a president cannot serve more than two terms. Thus the popular power of Ike is not as potent as that of the late President Roosevelt.

So we see our Washington policy up for grabs, with no leader who can control segments of either party. Already our President is faced by many who are preparing to run for office in 1960 and must walk on eggs meanwhile. The congressmen who are running for office next year lack the courage to support his budget because an economy record always looks better at home. Each will make it look as though he tried to get projects approved for local areas, but few will say much either way about the budget.

We wish our President would burn up a bit of that popularity. This major nation wants and needs positive, courageous leadership, and it needs it right now.

WHERE ARE THE DEMOCRATS

The Democrats are too busy playing politics these days to prove themselves as true representatives of the people. Obviously the majority wanted Ike. Obviously his program has been little more than a continuation of much New Deal and Fair Deal legislation. In view of these facts it does not seem that the Democrats would lose anything by supporting him in most cases.

Instead we find Democrat leaders supporting him in some very strange situations, such as the natural gas rate grab. It became so obviously a power politics affair last year that the President was forced to veto the bill that would have removed controls and cost the consumer millions, but he at the same time indicated his approval of the idea while disclaiming the way it was accomplished.

The Democrats neither openly support the President, nor do they have the courage to attack him. They have chosen the easy way of sitting unobnoxiously on the fence most of the while.

The only politicians who reveal any real stomach in Washington today are the conservatives. You know right where they stand, which is as it should be and you must respect them for their honesty if not for their selfish reasons for supporting their program.

The fact is it is difficult to draw much of a line in Washington today. Where the Republicans end and the Democrats start is hard to find. We see no clear-cut policy backed solidly by either party. Maybe this is what keeps both alive. If you were to put the progressives under one banner and the moss-backs under another, there wouldn't even be a contest. The progressives would sweep the nation.

Meanwhile, we must be discontented with an administration which parades as progressive through its support of such New Deal program as social security, while it attempts to destroy our natural resources by attacking TVA and denying the people their demands for full use of our rivers. It talks of civil liberties but fails to fight for them.

REST ROOM SIGNS

The state requires you to post sanitary signs in your rest rooms. The proper warning printed over the name of the Pennsylvania State Board of Health can be bought at the Warren Printing Company, 333 Hickory Street, Warren, Pa. Price, 15 cents each.

It talks of the need for education, but does not get behind a bill that will provide it.

Washington is wishy-washy these days, and the people in the midst of an inflated economy which provides big pay checks that do little more than pay household expenses are eager to save a buck somewhere so that they can buy a bigger car. So they leave Ike at the mercy of his heavy money friends and forget that they voted for him last fall.

They can save him if he takes his problems to them by way of television, radio, and the press. If he will be factual, get away from his trite platitudes, and really serve them the meat, they will eat it out of his hand and the politicians who believe a fence is a good place to be until they learn where to jump will find the fence has pickets.

GIVE IT TO 'EM, IKE

Our President Eisenhower got down to cases in his talk to the people, Tuesday night. The platitudes were replaced by budgetary facts. Piece by piece he discussed it and defended it. Home to the people who supported him was pounded his side of the argument. And he said he will be back next week.

It may be a bit late. The economy ball got started weeks ago and too many congressmen have expressed their opinions in public. But if the folks back home start writing letters to those congressmen, Ike may win again. And so may the people this time.

BUYERS' CORNER

HELP WANTED

We often have young people visit our office for the purpose of talking about their future. The planning of a vocation and a life has been the subject of many talks, books, lectures, and college courses. You can't say it in a few words. But there are a few basic thoughts which bother many employees.

You usually can tell how far an employee will go the first few weeks he or she works for you. You can't learn all there is about a job in regular work hours, and the employee who quits his job at five and forgets every aspect of it until the next morning will never be more than average.

The employee who wants to move ahead through greater proficiency and skill will study off the job. This may be done by taking correspondence courses, independent reading, or time spent in extra hours on his own time within the plant, if such an approach is allowed by the employer.

We also note a tendency of young people to wait until they get a job before they train for it. We are visited by many young girls who think they want to be secretaries. Yet they may not have studied shorthand. In fact we have known applicants who admitted they had done very little typing.

We believe that everyone should learn to type these days. It is helpful in almost any job if you hope to move upstairs. And certainly shorthand should be learned, despite dictaphones. You will find that any employer will have hurried letters which do not allow time for dictaphones and it is a means of making fast notes that can be used by nearly all of us.

There are two little slants that may amaze many attractive young ladies. A big share of your prospective employers will not appreciate your being so inconsiderate of the customer as to chew gum while on the job. Eating in any form should be limited to meal time and the coffee break. And you will impress very few employers by dragging on a cigarette in his presence, or in the presence of a customer, or by calling the boss by his first name.

In fact there are employers who consider it inconsiderate to smoke at any time in an area where others are working. Second hand smoke is not very pleasant. And certainly those who do not care to smoke or who do not like smoking should not be forced to share the habit of others, especially in the second, stale breath.

Prepare basically in a way that will make it possible for you to fit into a variety of rather obvious jobs, don't stop preparing after you get the job, don't expect your employer to pay your wages while you do all your learning, and avoid any habit that can be disturbing or annoying to others.

Just simple rules, but violated en masse every day. And noticed very readily by employers every day.

HOME BUILDING BLOCK

There are many laments heard concerning the lack of housing and the failure to fill the housing need. This has many sides, but there is one that serves as a major block to many who want homes. That is the refusal of many banks to provide money on GI loans.

The major problem that most people have to overcome in their life-time is the purchase of a home. They spend most of their life, and probably all of it, paying for one. But the first step is a down payment, a little item that doesn't come easy to the average wage-earner.

The treatment of the boys who gave up many of their vital young years to the job of fighting our wars is the one which really heats this writer. We set up a GI bill and then wrap it up with red tape that makes it a major enterprise for a man to make use of it. And we talk of GI loans which can't even be made!

It is a sorry fact that a nation as rich as this one has to have veteran organizations, such as the VFW and the American Legion, to see that the war veteran receives what is due him. We spend billions on weapons we never will use, but quibble about a few dollars one way or the other concerning our veterans, with the excuse that we must not let anyone get away with something.

When our state and national agencies which deal with those who require help of some kind begin doing their job with a heart and with the thought that it is better to err on the side of leniency rather than adhere to the letter of the law, the intent of these agencies will be more completely accomplished.

BUSES SEEK FREIGHT

The railroads are about to see the bus business really move into their field. The Greyhound bus lines are putting on a drive to obtain express business which will take your package to any part of the country with the fastest kind of service. You put it on the bus and it should arrive at its destination that same day if the trip is not too long.

This is quite a switch. It was not long ago when the drivers were inclined to look down their noses when you handed them something to deliver. In fact they were apt to tuck it away and forget to leave it at the town to which it was addressed.

Personal visits from Greyhound salesmen now are assuring the business man that such a day is passed. They now want your package, if it doesn't weigh over a hundred pounds. The size can be up to 24" x 24" x 45".

Meanwhile, we hear that the railroads are upping their passenger rates fifteen per cent with the approval of the inter-state commerce gentlemen. This apparently is the answer to bus competition. If you can't take the customers away from them, charge those left enough to make up the difference. Strange competition.

Reminding us that the new passenger service idea through Warren may be great, but how about the mail service? We understand that mail deposited in a town as close as Sheffield after the truck leaves in the late afternoon will not get to Warren until the following evening, and probably be received the day after that. If the railroad isn't going to do better than that, why not more trucks?

Jt. Committee Talks New High School

Discussion on the new high school and other routine matters faced the joint committee of the Warren Area School Board when it convened for its May session Monday night.

Among the main items talked over was the possibility of using gas or oil heat in the new school rather than coal. Lee M. Schaeffer reported on a survey taken of other new schools in the area and learned that the majority uses gas. No conclusion was arrived at, but the committee seemed to lean toward gas heating if it would be cheaper.

The resignation of Burr Garvin was accepted and Henry Fuellhart was employed to make a topographical survey of the Swick site. This is expected to be completed this week. The architects will then be able to make their sketches for presentation to the board in a month or so.

It was announced that the state had given its approval of the Swick site for the new high school.

The school directors also discussed House Bill 183, which would change the reimbursement from the state to the school and in this area would be particularly detrimental to the districts' reimbursement fractions more than the borough. The matters involved in such a cut are transportation, tuition, extension and home bond instruction. At the same time teacher salaries would benefit from the action.

Two steps were considered for the betterment education in the local system. For the first time in history a full-time dramatics instructor will be engaged at Beaty Jr. high school. The program will start next term with Bill Campbell in charge. Mrs. Eleanor Maurer, of the Pennsylvania State University, will assist in initiating the new step.

In reporting on the Beaty fund, assistant Beaty principal Thomas Barratt recommended the possibility of the fund paying for a non-credit extension course for Beaty guidance teachers.

President Melvin Keller appointed W. Scott Calderwood to the Library board.

Ralph Brown was elected assistant wrestling coach and six teachers employed for next year were Mrs. Helene McClure, Vernon Mauk, Miss Grace Tigani, Dick Anderson, Miss Marguerite Schmid and Ralph McCain.

The resignation of Mrs. Marza Kelly from the Beaty faculty was accepted and Leroy Peck was granted a leave of absence for one year.

The board was informed that the state's reimbursement percentage on Beaty school has been dropped from 89.73 to 88.71, as the Harrisburg officials would not go along with certain improvements and installed equipment and facilities.

Payments approved were $399, substitute teachers; $446.25, special services; $48, recreational services; $684, janitors' overtime; $1,035.47, orders written during the month; $4,464.25, cafeteria bills; $1,785.80, services; $4,306.42, bills recommended for payment by the finance committee.

The building and grounds committee's recommendation for the usual summer maintenance was accepted and the superintendent was instructed to ask for bids for boiler, stoker and movie machine repairs, as well as for coal, gas and oil.

The March attendance figure in the school system was 94 per cent, an average for this period.

Purchase of lumber for repairing the third floor of the high school was approved in amounts of $89.65, Warren Planning Mill, and $185.86, Seneca Lumber.

Permission was given the Dragon Band, and possibly the Dungaree Band, to march in the Fourth of July and Memorial Day parades, and the Commando Band to participate in the Veterans' Observance in Clarendon on May 23.

If 30 high school students are interested, a summer typing class will be instructed.

Mrs. Arlene Whitehill will take three girls to the Future Homemakers of America meeting in State College June 10-12. And five high and junior high teachers will be in attendance at the annual workshop in Edinboro June 17-19.

GIRL SCOUTS

MEXICAN FOLK DANCES were demonstrated by Youngsville Brownies and Girl Scouts in the Warren-Forest Council Folk Dance Festival held last Saturday on War Memorial Field. The local lassies caught the eyes of the audience with their dazzling red skirts and quick steps. The success of the local venture was due to the effort of the leaders and the special attention given the dance routines by Marsue Mortland. Penny Beach, of Warren, coordinated the entire program which contained representatives of twelve nations. Lorraine Brooks, Youngsville first-aid, maintained the emergency tent and treated two cases.

SHOPLIFTERS' LOOT. Police Sgt. W. E. Hewitt, pictured conferring with District Attorney Myer Kornreich, lead the local force in the apprehension of eight teen-age shoplifters in the Warren area last week. The pick-up started after a local merchant nabbed one of the persons in operation and questioning brought out the rest of the names.

The young ladies, who did not represent one gang but a number of smaller groups, confiscated approximately $300 in merchandise from 10 Warren stores. The items were mostly clothing, jewelry, cosmetics, shoes, and even a $40 portable radio.

To date most of the loot has been returned and the girls, who may face juvenile court, are making restitution. Investigation is continuing, however.

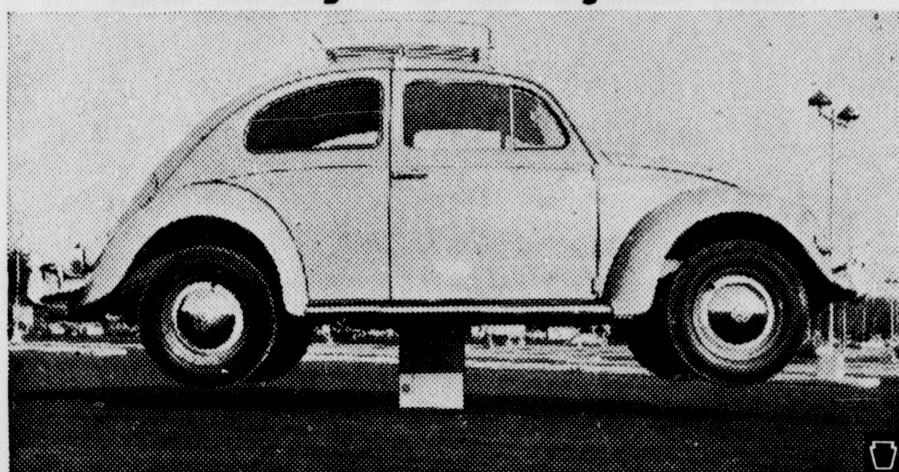

The juveniles kept most of their things with a girl friend.

A FULL MOON and wide open lens captured this outline of the old man sawing wood on the fence post.

How Strong Is A Corrugated Box?

A NEW COFFEE SHOP has been added to the Warren Motel in its recent expansion program. Under the management of Mrs. Pearle Jackson, the shop is now open from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. Starting the last week in May it will also give service from 5:30 to 8:30 in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton E. Lindquist are pictured here with a beautifully decorated cake during a community party held in honor of his retirement after 37 years of service as a rural mail carrier on Route #2, Akeley.

ACCOMPANIST and teacher for the Girl Scouts was Carl Henninger, who learned his music in Germany where he was born. He played for the festival and taught the Dance of Germany to the girls.

FLAG CEREMONY. An impressive flag ceremony was staged by members of the North Warren Girl Scout troop at the opening of the Warren-Forest County Girl Scout Folk Dance Festival at War Memorial Field Saturday afternoon.

Schools Vs. Oil?

BY THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON. -- Interesting to watch from now on is where Congress puts its emphasis so far as legislation is concerned.

Will it put human welfare first and give preference to the school construction bill, increased coverage of the minimum wage law and measures of that category? Or will it give top priority, as it has in the past, to measures desired by such special interests as oil and gas?

As of now, the school bill has a head start as a result of approval of the $1,500,000,000 bill by the House Education and Labor Committee.

Several bills to extend coverage of the minimum wage law to more workers are the subject of consideration by House and Senate committees. The new bill to exempt producers of natural gas from Federal Power Commission regulation also is currently the subject of public hearings by the House Interstate Commerce Committee, with evidence of powerful industry pressure behind it.

Ordinarily, on the basis of past performance, the natural gas bill would rule the favorite. A study of the legislative scratch sheet shows oil way ahead of schools so far as Congress is concerned.

A decade ago, in the Republican 80th Congress, the late Robert A. Taft, then Republican Senate leader, got a bill through the Senate appropriating $300,000,000 annually to aid schools. This was not limited to school buildings, as in the present measure, but could be used for teacher salaries or any other school purpose. Its application was left to the states.

In addition, there was a proviso specifying that the Federal government could exercise no control whatever over education, a proviso which Taft thought sufficient guarantee against Federal interference with education.

That bill was buried in the House and never became law. The same fate was suffered by a similar bill passed by the Senate in 1951.

That's as far as school bills ever got in the 10 years.

During that same decade, however, oil has done much better. Three times Congress passed the tidelands oil bill giving control over oil-bearing marginal coastal lands to the states instead of to the Federal government, where the Supreme Court decreed they belonged. Twice Congress passed a natural gas bill similar to the one now in lock.

President Truman twice vetoed the tidelands oil bill, but President Eisenhower signed it into law as the first major piece of legislation in his first Administration.

Likewise, President Truman vetoed the natural gas bill on the ground it would remove necessary protection to the consumer and open the way for unjustified price increases. President Eisenhower agreed with the bill's principles, but when it was passed last year he vetoed it because of the "arrogant" lobby behind it.

The lobby, active again, is already fuming over the position taken this year by the Eisenhower Administration which seems cleverly contrived and may cause a stalemate on the legislation and no law. Though President Eisenhower advocated a bill in his budget message to Congress, he said the consumer must be protected, and now the Administration is insisting upon two amendments to the pending measures sponsored jointly by a Democrat, Representative Oren Harris of Arkansas, and a Republican, Representative Joseph P. O'Hara of Minnesota.

The four big oil associations immediately attacked these amendments, which were suggested to the Interstate Commerce Committee by Charles H. Kendall, general counsel of the Office of Defense Mobilization, on behalf of the Administration.

One would continue FPC power to consider production costs in fixing prices, which is what the oil industry chiefly is interested in ending. The other would continue in the FPC the power to review price increases based on pricing clauses in existing contracts in cases where those price increases were more than necessary to cover increased taxes.

Failure of Congress to include the two amendments would give the President an excuse to veto the bill again. This possibility, and the admittedly close division within the House on the issue, throw confusion about the bill. In the last Congress, Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn, Democrat and Texan, had to take the floor personally to put over the bill, which won by only a handful of votes.

The Speaker seems averse to such exertions now. His aim is to put the burden on the Administration for this measure, which is so unpopular in natural gas-consuming states. Out of this posture of each side trying to pass the buck to the other might come a deadlock.

LANDER AND RUSSELL Girl Scouts went through a dance of Denmark as their role in the Girl Scout Folk Festival at War Memorial Field Saturday.

BROWNIES from North Warren selected a Swedish dance as their part in the Girl Scout Folk Dance Festival Saturday.

Over 1,000 scouts from the area represented 12 countries in all.

Politics Endanger Mental Program

The board of directors of Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc., a statewide citizens' organization, at its quarterly meeting held in Philadelphia this week, expressed alarm at the apparent trend in the legislature with respect to the commonwealth's mental health program.

There is growing evidence, they said, that in contrast with the 1955 legislative session, the general assembly is approaching the problem of mental health services on a partisan political basis, with little regard for the needs of the mentally ill.

In documenting this charge, the organization cited three specific examples:

1. The stated intention on the part of members of the house appropriations committee drastically to reduce the funds requested for the mental health program for the coming biennium. This request the Association feels, is a rock bottom figure; to go below it would set the commonwealth program back a decade.

2. The expressed intention of the house appropriations committee to hamstring the Department by specifying in the Appropriations Act the amount of money that can be spent for each budget item, thereby defeating the main purpose of sound planning on a statewide basis, which calls for a flexible method of meeting changing needs.

3. The introduction of a series of measures designed to cripple the training program of the Department, prevent the creation of sorely-needed facilities in Delaware county, and change the administrative structure back to the archaic system of disjointed administrative boards of hospital trustees, with no central professional direction.

Charles H. Frazier, president of the Association, said: "Our organization's independent survey shows that the proposed budget of $221 million represents the absolute minimum needed to maintain service at its present level. Little or no improvement will be possible. Failure of the legislature to provide the minimum needed funds will reverse the progress made in the past two years and instead of a steady increase in the numbers of patients leaving our state hospitals, we may see a movement in the opposite direction. We must not destroy the program which has given new hope to the mentally ill by providing them with early treatment and the opportunity to recover and return home."

MORE CHANNELS

Warren area television viewers should be seeing the leading NBC network programs and the local programs handled by Erie WSEE before fall. The Warren Television Corporation lines are being changed to handle five channels. This involves new amplifiers in most places and will take into August to complete.

The area programs will come in on Channel 5 from the Erie station. The NBC programs will be brought in on Channel 3 and will come from WBUF in Buffalo. This station is owned by NBC and was tried once before by the local line. New equipment should bring it in better this time.

Johnny Drum, of Warren, who started his broadcasting career with WNAE, may be seen on some of those WSEE programs. He has been doing television work in the south and soon will be production manager for the Erie station.

AFTER CAR-OWNERS

Ford is going directly after the car owners next year with the use of over five million dollars worth of radio time. It will be exclusively CBS and will involve four hours and forty minutes a week, most of which will be in the morning and late-afternoon hours when traffic is at its peak. The rest of its $14 billion budget for broadcasting will go to TV and is divided between several programs.

NEW NETWORK

A schedule of sixty collegiate and professional sport events will be provided by the Sterling Radio Network Inc. next fall for resale by radio stations to local sponsors. The new network will specialize in live sports and special events. It is being formed by Sterling Television.

In spite of his ratings, SID CAESAR'S show is the second most expensive on NBC, costing about $110,000 per week. Perry Como's is top, running a few thousand dollars higher.

ART UPSWEEPS

The Warren area is enjoying a boom in the appreciation of art. This spring has seen a series of events which indicate there are many who not only like to look at art but also are taking part in it.

The outdoor art show held recently was hampered by unpleasant weather, or the threat of it, but it revealed the prevalence of a real interest. Early this week another type of show was held, the purpose of which was to see professional art and to buy some of it for the high school.

Coming up next week is the talent recognition art show, sponsored by the Woman's Club and held in its building on Market street. This has become an annual event to which those who enjoy drawing, painting, or ceramics look forward.

It has several obvious purposes, such as offering amateur artists a reason for being together, talking about and comparing their work. They learn much this way. As you struggle with a creative piece of your own won in any field you are limited by your own imagination and feelings. It helps to see how others approach the same subject. Thus your ideas are augmented and compromises result that may take you off onto a fascinating approach in your next effort.

We miss the photographic portion of the talent show. This is a day in which photography is receiving a big play, and there is no reason why those who own the good cameras of today cannot do more than take a few informal snaps of their friends and family.

Here again the imagination is tried, and the creative awakened. With the color film now available the light limitations are greatly eliminated and the new freedom of natural work can result in private picture collections that will prove a real pleasure.

The family album of tomorrow should have more in it than auntie's funny hat and the gay ninety dresses we wore in the flush 1950's. For

All of which is a long way from where we started this piece. SIX PLAYS

The Cleveland Play House will provide the personnel for Chautauqua's repertory theatre this season, and a play a week, for six weeks, is the schedule, starting with The Seven Year Itch on July 3. Each play will be given twice.

Other plays on the schedule are Anastasia, Time Limit, A View from the Bridge, As You Like It, and Witness for the Prosecution. An exciting and varied combination certainly.

SENTIMENTAL HOLIDAY

I watched "Mr. Broadway", NBC's spectacular on the life of George M. Cohan, with an English-woman who, after five minutes or so of it, inquired:

"Who was George Cohan?" Well, he is a little hard to explain. I tried to say that he was a little like England's Noel Coward, having in mind Cohan's versatility as playwright, actor, songwriter, director and so forth, but I gather she got the impression I meant he was the same SORT of playwright. After listening to about half an hour of "Mary Is A Grand Old Name" and "You're A Grand Old Flag" and a few more of those grand old but indubitably corny songs, she said: "I think Mr. Coward is a little more sophisticated."

To the uninitiated, "Mr. Broadway" was a pretty bad introduction to George M. Cohan who isn't the world's easiest guy to dramatize, anyway. I wrote George Cohan's obituary (many years before he died) and I have an idea that Sam and Bella Spewack, who are credited with writing "Mr. Broadway", covered the same territory I did in their research. All those stories about young Cohan as an insufferably brash and conceited youngster were told by Cohan himself about himself. Frankly, I don't believe them. I don't think Cohan could have been as ornery a little cuss as he made himself out to be because I think, if he were, somebody would have killed him, conceivably his own father.

But the Spewacks elected to write it that way and Mickey Rooney elected to play it that way which, I think, got us all off on the wrong foot. The struggle to the top of Broadway's heap -- and Cohan sure got there -- was never really as tough as depicted either. My father tells me that the Four Cohans was a top vaudeville act, even when Cohan was very young. And success on Broadway, if it was not immediate, was pretty close to that.

Still it is the tradition of these backstage soap operas that it must be a struggle all the way and so it has to be done that way. A few honest notes did creep in from time to time. Cohan, who always said he didn't care what the newspapers wrote about him so long as they spelled his name right, DID very much care what they wrote about him and greatly resented the fact that he was not taken seriously as an actor or a playwright. Eventually, he was to win great acclaim as an actor but never really as a dramatist and this rankled.

Also, Cohan's statement in the script that he didn't understand the modern theater, that the theater had passed him by, was quite true. At the end of his life, he didn't understand the theater of the day and he was quite bitter about it. Otherwise, there was little of Cohan in the story except the songs -- "Give My Regards to Broadway", "Over There" and the rest of them.

Rooney played thirty years of George M. Cohan all in the same key as if the man had never grown up or changed at all from adolescence. Bitter as he was at the end of his life, Cohan had a wonderful, puckish Irish charm and the enormous authority that success bestows on people. Mickey Rooney, talented as he is, simply isn't the personality that Cohan was and, even if the Spewacks had given him a little more dimension in the script, I doubt that he could have brought it off.

Anyhow, this kind of Broadway biography has gone out of style. Tonight on "Playhouse 90" there'll be the new kind of backstage bio-

WARREN WINS SECTION

The Section Two track and field competition staged in Corry Tuesday resulted in a repeat title for the Dragon thinclads of Warren high. Coach Loyal Briggs boys turned up the steam to accumulate 64 points compared to Titusville's 48 1/2, Corry's 38, Meadville's 33, Oil City's 28, and Franklin's 14 1/2.

In the Class A event the Blue and White boys knocked off five first places out of 15, five seconds and a three-way tie, two thirds, one fourth and a three-way tie, and four fifths.

Besides the team success, a pair of Dragons set new Warren high records. Ron Bowen broke Willard Foley's 1955 discus toss with a throw of 137-6 1/2 and Steve Lindquist captured the 180-yard low hurdle record with a time of 22.1.

They both finished first in the Section Tuesday along with Bob Swanson, mile, 4:57; Jon Wiedmaier, 120-yd. low hurdles, 17.2; and the half mile relay team (Jack Suppa, Wiedmaier, Lindquist and Jack Karkosky), 1:37.2.

Suppa and Dick Kremer each took a couple seconds for Warren, as did Karkosky. Iver Stenberg shared a three-way tie for third.

BOWLING ROLL-OFFS

In the finals of the Warren Bowling Association tournament Angoves finished tops in the team event with 2985, with REA next best on a 2918 total.

Dave Fink and Frank Gerardi grabbed the doubles event with 1281. Runners-up were P. Freeborough and J. Abplanalp on 1277. The singles show saw G. Anderson taking top honors with 707 as M. Onorato took second with 679.

The big all-events was won by Dave Fink's 1943 and the only one close was L. Munch and 1920.

CITY LEAGUE OPENS

A pair of games opened the 1957 version of the Warren City Softball loop Monday night with Valones downing Youngsville 11-8 while Texas Lunch was taking over Nino's 18-1.

Leading the Texans' victory were Don Baldensperger and Monk Murphy as they slapped four for five and five for six respectively at the plate. Gibson had four in five trips for Youngsville, a team that lead until Valones shoved four tallies over in the final inning.

GOLF LEAGUE

An industrial golf league is being formed to play weekly on the Kinzua golf course which now is open for play. Seven teams have been signed and five more are wanted. A meeting will be held next week to plan the details.

Now entered in the league are Keystone Printing, Bill's Driving Range, Sylvania Machine Shop, Struthers-Wells, DeLuxe Metal, Loranger Plastics, Warren Plastics, and perhaps the Warren Observer.

The course should be improved this year. New tees are taking hold and will be ready soon, the greens have a good turf, and the railroad tracks have been removed. Les Sheldon says season memberships will be accepted up until June 1.

YOUNG WINS

George Young, of Detroit, was on top with 1284 when the Ten Pin sweeps ended in Jamestown last week end. Buddy Malone, of Erie, finished second with 1261. Third was Bob Lukawski, of Detroit, with 1241, and Joe Wilman was fourth with 1232.

Ed Sterley, of Emporium, took the 185 and under with 1227. No local or area bowlers did much.

TIM LEADS

Best golf of the day for Warren CVCC golfers last Thursday was Tim Creal with 37. Today they are paying off for the fewest putts, and next week it will be match play against par.

WIN THREE-WAY EVENT

A weakened Dragon track and field team chalked up their fifth victory in six starts on the Beaty cinders Friday afternoon by defeating Youngsville and Corry in a triangular event. Final score: Warren 60, Youngsville 48, and Corry 16.

Coach Loyal Briggs' biggest jolt of the day was in the absence of ace Jack Suppa, who has been consistent in knocking off firsts in both the 100-yard dash and the 220. Other top Blue and White contenders have been dropping off the squad throughout the season, thus taking away the depth in the squad.

Warren thinclads only scored first at the finish line five times Friday, Youngsville was best seven, and Corry dragged with only two. The Briggsmen, however, accumulated 10 seconds to bolster their score.

The results:

180-yd. low hurdles, Breneman (Y), 22.3; 100-yd. dash, Moniak (Y), 10.4; mile run, Swanson (W), 4:57.1;

CHAMPIONS of the Elks 1956-57 Bowling league were these members of the Dan's Chevrolet team. (l. to r.) seated -- Willis Tickner, captain Merle Sterling, Chuck Decker; standing -- Floyd Guy Edris. They were honored at the club's annual bowling banquet last Monday night.

half-mile relay, Youngsville (Cruthard, Fehlman, Smith, Breneman), 1:38.5; 440-yd. dash, Moniak (Y), 53.4; 880-yd. run, McMeans (Y), 2:12.5; 220-yd. dash, Breneman (Y), 24.9; mile relay, Youngsville (Moniak, Halfast, McMean, Fehlman), 3:50.2.

Shot put, Kremer (W), 44-1; pole vault, Stenberg and Trembley (W), 9-8 1/2; discus, Scott (C), 150-0; broad jump, Lindquist (W), 18-4.

The Eagles from down the road obviously dominated the track events, winning seven of the eight. Neither they nor Corry would run the high hurdles. In the field

Warren proved the strongest with four victories in six events.

The Dragon cinderers return to dual competition next Wednesday when they entertain Erie Academy on the home oval.

In Brief

OFF ON A SPREE. Wayne Grant, Jr., 26, of Star Route, Warren, caused approximately $700 damage to a variety of things about 11:40 p. m. Wednesday night in the Park st. sector.

While proceeding up Park st. Grant's auto jumped the right curb near the Madison ave. intersection, went between some houses, over the bank onto Locust st. and then back onto Park. The operator proceeded to the borough line and wound up taking out a half dozen mail boxes.

About $400 of the damage was to the vehicle and the remainder to several trees, bushes and the mail boxes.

GET OUT AND VOTE

The Primary Election is Tuesday, May 21, and the polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. The rest is up to you.

It should be interesting this Primary with two major county offices being contested on the Republican ticket. Incumbent Ed C. Lowrey and Edward F. MacKendrick are seeking the coroner nod, while for district attorney incumbent Myer A. Kornreich and Samuel F. Bonavita are pushing the picture.

The candidates running for the more prominent offices in Warren Borough are:

Burgess--William E. Rice (R), uncontested.

Justice of the Peace--Ervine N. Branch (D) incumbent, Martha G. Lawson (R).

Tax Collector--G. M. Ostergard (R), uncontested.

School Board--J. Russell Hanson (R) and W. Scott Calderwood, both Rep. incumbents and uncontested.

Borough Council:

First ward--incumbent John Newmaker (R), Ralph E. Anderson (R).

Second ward--incumbent Warren E. Miller (R), Patrick Sherwood (D).

Third ward--Thomas H. Conway (D), incumbent J. G. Smith (R).

Fourth ward--incumbent John Carbon (R), Arthur B. White (D).

Fifth ward--incumbent C. T. Berdine (R), Karl G. Timm (R), Jack M. Larson (D).

Sixth ward--incumbent Paul W. Yagge (R), Anthony Tomassoni (R), and William Schumann (D).

Seventh ward--Richard W. Meacham (R), Isador M. Trager (D).

Eighth ward--incumbent Maurice Emery (R), Frank Fago (D).

Ninth ward--incumbent Nick Merenick (R), Dick Tucker (R).

C. OF C. MEETS. To promote this area as a tourist attraction, the Warren Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday night voted to erect billboards on Route 6's east and west approaches to the county identifying the area as the gateway and headquarters to the Allegheny National Forest.

The directors also decided to submit the solicitations control policy, which would curb the many requests for program advertising and gifts of merchandise, to the membership for approval. The retailers committee has already agreed to the matter.

Members of the Chamber's business development committee, Merle Kremer, Neil Culbertson, Duane Wilder and Charles Tranter, will attend the Pennsylvania Industrial Development clinic in Harrisburg today and Friday. Mr. Kremer will be one of the speakers.

It was revealed by Warren County Development Association chairman Robert O. Wilder that a survey of Warren County by a professional consulting firm will be one of the first projects of this new county-wide group.

HOST. United Reining Co. of Warren acted as one of the host companies at the 32nd annual meeting of the Fire and Accident Prevention Division of the National Petroleum association in Buffalo, N.Y., last week. In attendance from here were D. W. Dorsey, Earl Ericson, Earl Dorrance, and Glen Morley.

NEW STATE OFFICER. Ray W. Steber, vice president and trust officer of the Warren Bank and Trust Co., was elected treasurer of the Pennsylvania Bankers association during the convention May 8-11 at Atlantic City.

Harold E. Bright, of Reading, was named chairman for the coming year.

THE RESIGNATION of Mrs. R. Glenn Chapel as manager of the Warren Woman's Club was accepted with regret by the governing board this week. Mrs. Chapel has been handling the Club's busy program since October, 1941. Her busy weeks included the regular Monday programs, the Shakespeare Club, Social Science Club, Philomel Club, Dance Club, two bridge clubs, the Warren Players Clubs, plus the many special events, such as weddings, receptions, and private parties.

No successor has been named. Mrs. Charles Frantz and her house committee have this difficult job to do.

SMASHER. If all areas of the nation do as well with the cancer drive as did Warren county there will be dollars to give the researchers a busy 1957 and to provide much help for those who already need financial assistance. With a goal of about $11,000 the people of Warren county responded to a very cooperative and thorough campaign effort sufficiently well to provide $14,125.

WIDEN ROUTE 6. Among eleven projects on which bids will be opened June 7 by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways is a widening job on Route 6. The stretch covers 1.68 miles east from the Warren and Erie county line. It will change the section from 18 to 24 feet.

NO SURPLUS FOOD will be distributed in Warren County during the month of May.

STATE POLICE investigated two lone-car accidents since last Saturday, the first taking place at 3 a.m. the day mentioned two miles east of Youngsville on Route 6. Involved was Richard Litzinger, R. D. 2, Pittsfield, who missed a curve at the Irvine tracks and caused four to five hundred dollars damage. He acquired bruises to the body in the mishap.

At 1:20 p.m. Tuesday a coal truck operated by Reed Sigworth, R. D. 1, Tionesta, caught fire seven miles south of Warren on Route 62. The operator was injured slightly when he leaped from the vehicle, which crashed into a bank. A broken gas line was believed to be the fault. About $1500 damage was the result.

THREE ARRESTS were made following accidents in Warren borough during the week, two of these traffic light violations and the other for driving two fast for conditions.

The latter charge was placed against Metro Fedorchuk, 330 Water st., after he struck a parked car owned by Walter Swanson, 118 Water st., which in turn was pushed into the second auto belonging to Francis H. Nelson, R. D. 1, Warren, in the 100 block of Water st. at 6:04 p.m. Saturday. Over $600 damage was caused along with Fedorchuk's arrest.

BISHOP L. C. WICKE

The guest speaker for Warren high school commencement exercises on the Beatty Jr. high school lawn June 6th will be Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, resident bishop of the Pittsburgh Area Methodist Church.

William Smith, 313 Laurel st., was unable to stop for the traffic light at the intersection of Liberty st. and Pennsylvania ave. at 1:02 a.m. Sunday and struck a vehicle driven by Robert C. Beach, 26 S. Carver st.

A similar case occurred at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the South st. and Pennsylvania ave. intersection involving Harry A. Hannold, Tylersburg, who was charged, and Norman Anthony, R. D. 1, Warren. Only $100 damage resulted.

SYLVANIA PROMOTIONS. Merle W. Kremer, general manager of the Sylvania Electric Products parts division has announced the appointment of Louis R. Wanner as manufacturing manager responsible for the operations of the Warren Plastics, Warren Metal Base, Titusville Assembly, and Naugatuck Formatic plants in the parts division. He was previously plant manager of the Warren Plastics and Titusville Assembly Plants, a position he held since 1950.

At the same time Mr. Kremer appointed George Konkol, a plant manager of the wire and weld operations in Warren since 1954, to the position of manufacturing manager in charge of Warren Wire, Warren Weld, Nelsonville Weld, and York Metal Stamping plants in the parts division.

BEING REMODELED. The White-House Inn, area night spot on Conewango ave., ext., is being renovated and will have a grand opening sometime next week. Business will operate as usual until that time.

EMPLOYMENT in Warren county remained almost at a standstill during the past three month period, according to reports supplied by 49 firms accounting for 7,805 of the area's jobs.

Factory employment, which usually rises in March and April, took a slight drop. A minor increase is suggested in May and June.

WARREN COUNTY COMMISSIONERS have passed a resolution designating the Warren County Development association as the industrial development agency for the county in matters pertaining to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Assistance law. Warren borough council has concurred with the resolution and other township supervisors and boroughs in the county are now asked to go along.

Fifty per cent of the county's governing bodies must agree according to the state law. This will enable the local association to apply for state matching funds to do an industrial survey and promotion in the county.

Your Forest Ranger

By Larry Stotz

It was a beautiful spring day on the Allegheny. The flowering stage of the red maple was nearly over and thousands of tiny red blossoms dotted the ground.

But on the valley slopes the June berry trees were now in full bloom. Their dainty flowers transformed the hillsides into a white fairy-land. High overhead the leaves of the black cherry were unfolding to form a pale green umbrella which matched the carpet of grass that filled every opening in the forest. Emerald green spring seeps slashed the hillsides as the cool, clear water flowed over moss covered boulders. On the wet flats near the stream bottoms the huge skunk cabbage leaves gave the "green light" to the return of spring. The explosive potential of bursting buds was evident everywhere, and it was good to be alive.

As my companion and I walked through an old timber sale we stopped under a huge hemlock tree that had been left for wildlife cover. There was new life all around us but death at our feet. Curled near the base of the hemlock, under which it had sought shelter, lay the decomposed body of a small deer. Its black tiny toes reflected the bright sunlight. Dried sinew clung to the bones and held head, spinal column, rib cage and leg bones in place for no wandering scavenger beast had desecrated the body to scatter its bones over the landscape.

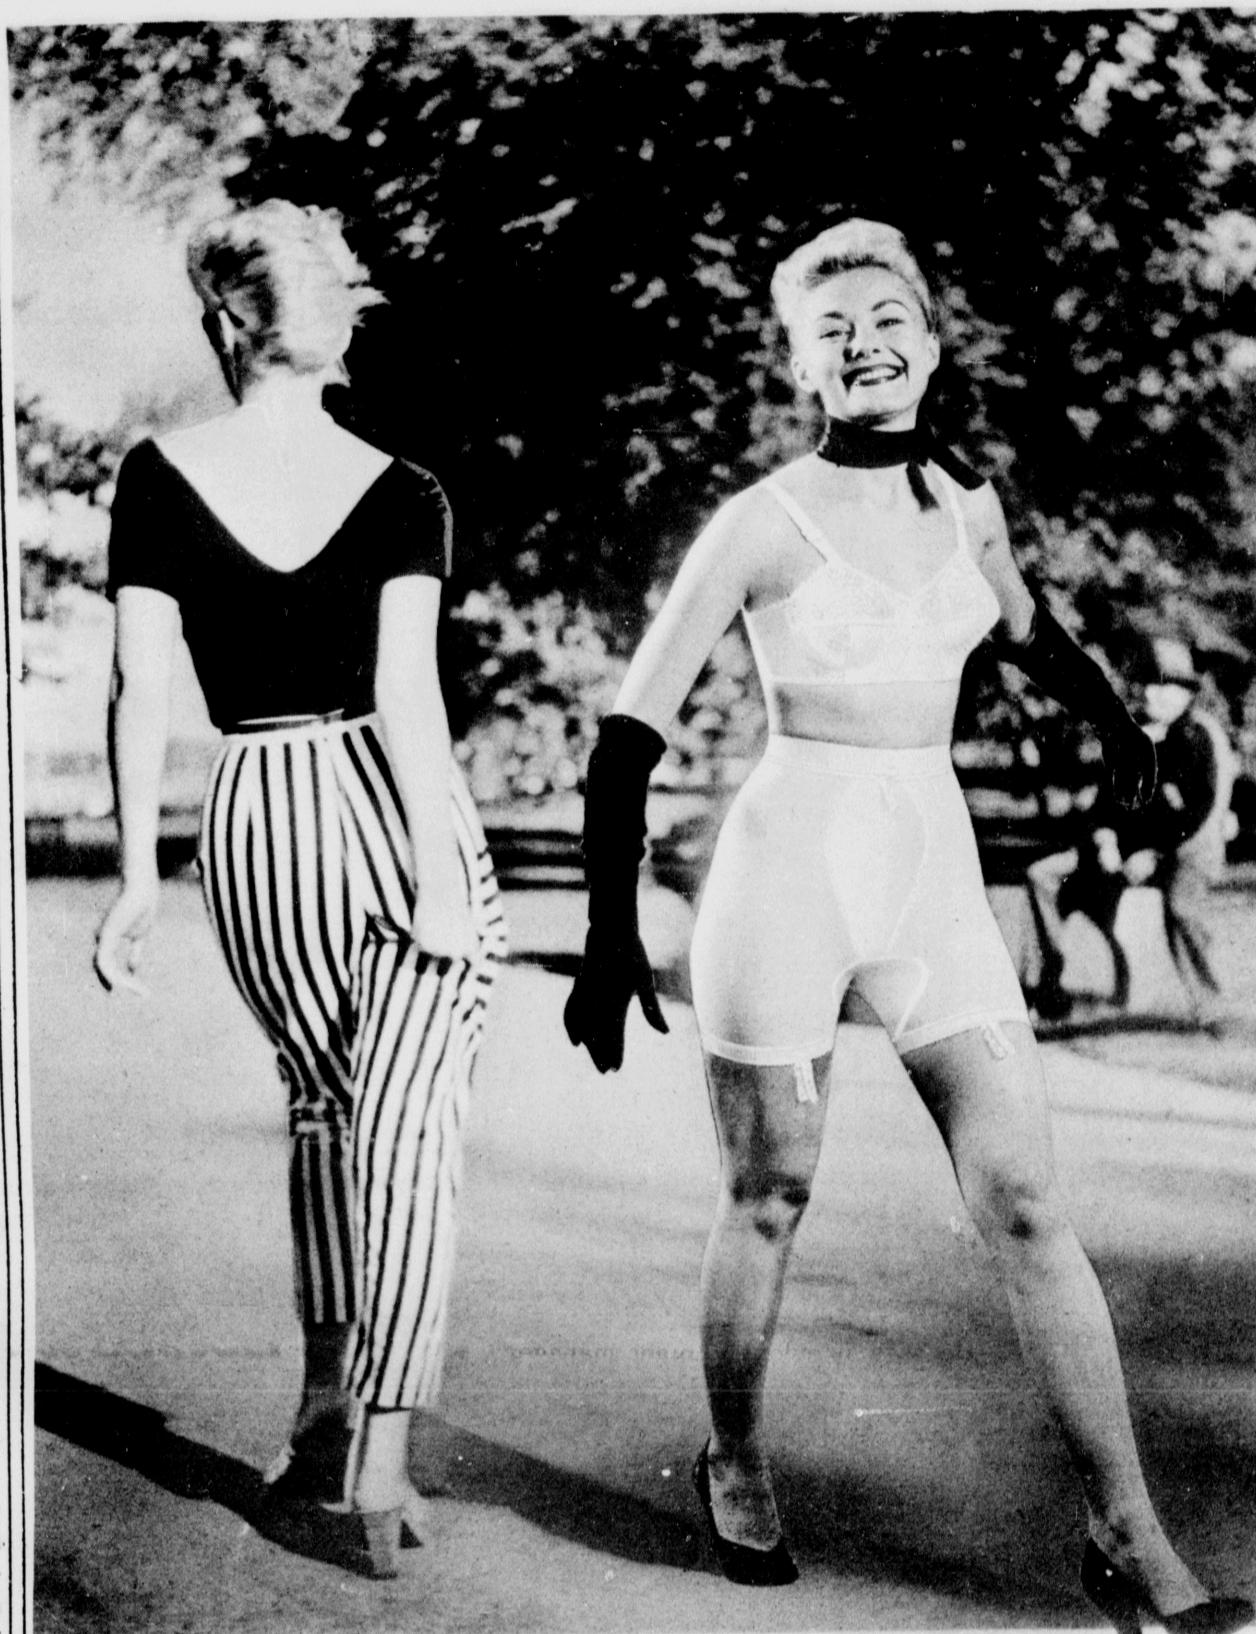

Deer hair lay scattered about like the nap of a tattered rug. Poking its way up through the carpet of hair the yellow adderstongue, with its mottled leaves, had burst into bloom. Small yellow violets grew between the ribs and leg bones. Carrion beetles with their black thoraxes trimmed with vivid red, and their wing coverings like undertakers' black frock coats, scurried busily about along the broad highway of the spinal column and through the tunnels in the skull made by the empty eye sockets.

Across the road were other deer feeding contentedly, with nose to ground, on the lush green carpet of grass and annual weeds. They were small deer and still showed the effects of malnutrition and the long winter, but they had somehow squeezed through the bottleneck that Nature had set up in March and had come out emaciated but still alive.

As we looked down at the deer that could not free itself from the hunger trap excess numbers had created we thought how much more merciful it would have been if it could have fallen under the hunter's bullet as legal game last fall, and provided food for his table instead of putrefying in the spring sun. But as long as the antlerless deer remains the "sacred cow" of Penn's woods the carrion beetle will wax fat, and the spring wild flowers will create a macabre spectacle as they blossom between the bones of deer that do not survive the winter.

NO BLONDES NEEDED

Time magazine this week carries an article concerning psychological studies to determine why people buy or want various items. It concluded that heads of families want a convertible because they envision a blonde sitting in it. But they buy a sedan to be practical.

Obviously the brain which asked these questions in the course of this study never was dusted out with a breezy go over the back roads in a comfortable open chariot. There is no ride like it in any other kind of car, and the real sports car enthusiasts can give you a wide range of reasons for enjoying their fun without the help of sex appeal.

As for blondes, their place in a convertible certainly would be no more than decorative. It is a rugged ride for those who like wind in their face and dirt in their hair-do. We can think of better places for and things to do with a bombshell.

But it is convertible time and if you miss this pleasure it may be due to your having a similar idea about open cars. If so, you've missed some motoring sport. In fact a convertible is more than a means of transportation. It is fun on the road.

This area is filled with quiet back roads, along which you can coast slowly in an open car. If you are really alert you will see much of the wild life, and you can make much more of it by being fully armed with a good camera. It is amazing how complete an album of wildlife can be composed with a camera, an open car, and patience.

And meanwhile the drive is real pleasure, alone or otherwise. But actually a little open if your goal is an affaire d'amour. Trade your dream of a deer in the seat for the reality of a deer in your view-finder and life in a convertible will be less complicated and will prove to be a healthy source of constructive pleasure.

HOW THEY TASTING?

How are those Chautauqua Lake bullheads tasting these days? When we were a very young fellow, and the lake was our family's recreation area, the only fish dish that beat the Chautauqua bullhead was the Chautauqua lunge.

The fact that the meat was so sweet and edible made the fun complete from a family standpoint. Those were great nights. A roaring fire to take the chill off hands made cold by the spring night and the colder water, a row of sticks with throw lines attached, and watchful eyes waiting for a stick to bend as a healthy bullhead took hold.

The men of the family did the tossing. They would throw the hook, nightcrawler, and sinker about a hundred feet from the shore. This would vary according to results.

The rest of us were assigned sticks to watch, and the night rushed by. Water lapping at the water-breakers, docks creaking, laughter across the lake, porch and window lights of the then sparse rows of cottages blinking on the water, and hunger building up to be fed later by a warm lunch.

The next day the food would be bullheads. And no other bullheads were like them, we were sure. And it proved out that way many times.

Once when our dad was working in Youngstown, Ohio, our uncle thought he would toss him a curve. He caught some Chautauqua lake bullheads and packed them off to Youngstown in ice. Mother was instructed to tell him they were caught in Ohio. He took one look and appeared skeptical. One bite and he snorted. These were no Ohio catfish, said he. They were from Chautauqua waters.

Ever been a stranger in town?

Many problems confront people who have just moved to a new city or neighborhood. The first few months may be difficult and lonely; help and friendliness from the rest of us can ease them into their new life.

We do all we can to make people feel at home here, whether they're newcomers to the area, or just newcomers to our bank.

Most of our time, of course, is spent on the things that build sound, efficient banking service. But we feel that friendliness and human warmth are just as essential — for our old customers as well as newcomers!
